

About Us

Partnering with Parents works in collaboration with biological parents and their children when there is CPS involvement. We offer Supervised Visitations, Parenting, and Therapy services to empower families to grow and heal so that reunification is possible. We see each person a unique individual with their own set of strengths and struggles and we aim to give every family the best tools possible to bond, mend, and thrive not just during the life of their case but permanently. We also provide support for families after CPS is no longer involved by offering wrap-around services to those who may need extra assistance once their child is back home.

Visitations and Parenting are offered in Odessa and Midland. Therapy services are offered in Midland and Big Spring.

Supervised Visitations

PartneringwithParents@highsky.org

Visitations sustain and nurture the parent/child relationship and allow parents to practice new skills in a safe environment. Observers provide feedback to parents and documentation to CPS so that there is transparency, and everyone is able to work towards the same goals.

We also provide arts and crafts to our families in order to help promote bonding and healthy expression.

Parenting Classes

MoniqueG@highsky.org

Parenting classes provide the tools that families can use to improve communication, empathy, discipline, bonding, development, and much more. Our classes are one-on-one which allow us to better individualize the curriculum to each client and their specific needs.

We also provide a monthly printout with parenting tips that are strategically designed for parents with CPS cases. These printouts are given out to all families who attend visitations through our program.

Therapy Services

MarisolD@highsky.org

High Sky's therapy program is committed to providing a range of services intended to help children, teens, and adults to promote healing and family wholeness. We are equipped with several different therapists who practice many different forms of therapy.

Forms of therapy that we offer:

- Equine:
Our therapists use Equine Facilitated Psychotherapy to increase self-confidence, improve interpersonal relations and reduce anxiety and depressive symptoms among foster youth. To evade predators, horses have evolved to be extremely sensitive to their environment. They instinctively analyze and react to our body language and other nonverbal cues providing us with valuable feedback and insights into other areas of our lives.
- Sand Tray Therapy:
This form allows the child to create scenes within a sand tray. The scene created acts as a reflection of the child's own life and allows him or her the opportunity to resolve conflicts, remove obstacles, and gain acceptance of self.
- Traditional Individual and Family Therapy:
Our clients have access to licensed therapists where they can address and heal their individual and family situations through psychotherapy.
